certifire

At UAP, making sure that our fire rated door products are tested to and exceed the latest fire safety standards is a top priority. Each of our fire tests are carried out by a third party test house, and all of our fire rated products have third party accreditation.

Some of our products have also been tested to Certifire standards. Recognised by regulatory authorities around the World, Certifire is an independent third party certification scheme that assured performance, quality, reliability and traceability of fire rated products, and is an internationally respected mark of fire safety.
